SUMMARY AND THOUGHTS

At this stage you should be thinking about some of the reason that you would like to become a teacher. You should be thinking about some of the things that you can offer the world. I recognize that many of you have not yet discovered your academic passions (Math, Science, Physics, Geography) but might instead have great passion for the environment, community or culture. This is awesome. Keep those passions near to your heart; they will be the fuel for your teaching. Do start thinking a little bit more about types of knowledge that you possess. Think about where you can acquire new knowledge. For starters just think about the five simplest ways to gain new knowledge.

1. Read a book, any book!
2. Read the newspaper, local or national!
3. Talk to people, older or younger!
4. Observe your world, at home in the house, at the beach or at the mall!
5. Hey, you’re already in college. Take a real look at your classes.

The more you learn, the more you have to pass on!

Pass it on
