Moving right along. I cannot stress the importance of the module. Routines and procedures are the only way that groups of people get along in organized and productive fashions. Think about if there no signs on the highways, no rules and no common wisdoms. All of these things need to be introduced, learned, and practiced before they become routines. Even then people still run through red lights, cut people off, and drive down one way streets. Those people are the adults!!!! Make sure to set a good example.
